

Researcher for VICE on HBO

VICE is a global youth media company and the industry leader in producing and distributing the best online video content in the world. Launched in 1994 as a punk magazine, VICE has expanded into a multimedia network, including the world's premier source for original online video, VICE.COM; an international network of digital channels; a television & feature film production studio; a magazine; a record label; and a book-publishing division.

VICE's digital channels include Noisey, a music discovery channel; The Creators Project, dedicated to the arts and creativity; Motherboard, covering cultural happenings in technology; THUMP, focusing on global dance and electronic music; and Fightland, a channel dedicated to the culture of MMA. VICE acquired British fashion publication i-D in 2012 and re-launched i-D's digital presence at i-D.co, a video-driven fashion site. In 2013, VICE launched a news-magazine series on HBO titled 'VICE.' The Emmy nominated series is commissioned for a second season, scheduled for 2014. OVERVIEW

VICE Media is seeking Researchers to join our production team. Applicants should have a strong journalism background and experience doing in-depth research that involves academic journals, databases, technical manuals, and expert sources.

Researchers will be tasked with tracing information back to its primary source, confirming its validity, and presenting it to producers in a form that can be used on air. Our stories cover diverse topics and often must be completed on tight deadlines.

Successful applicants should be able to demonstrate that they have experience gathering information quickly, can understand complicated subjects in a short period of time, and can work on multiple stories at once.

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

- Research stories for the HBO series, "VICE," from scratch and from topics provided by producers.
- Research potential local contacts, fixers and sources for all story ideas.
- Provide additional research for those stories already in production.
- Fact-check stories completed before being submitted for air.
- General support for the production team.

QUALIFICATIONS

- B.A. in journalism and/or English
- A strong interest in international affairs and investigative reporting is a must.
- Fluency in foreign languages is a plus, but not required.

COMPENSATION

VICE offers a comprehensive benefits and compensation package that is commensurate with experience and abilities.
